MRS. ALAN ROSE, wife of brave English miner who died in Toronto after three-week fight for life after being injured in gold mine cave-in at Timmins, Ont., has returned to Britain. But she says "I want to come back with my son, Mark, so he can grow up in the country where his daddy planned to make a home for us and where I found so much kindness."

THERE ARE TEN WAYS TO HURT A GOOD TOWN

1. Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his. Vote against taxes. Then fuss because the streets are not kept up.
2. Never attend any of the meetings called for the good of the town. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then cuss those who made the suggestions. Find fault with everything that was done.
3. Get all the town will give you, and don't give anything, in return. Write unsigned letters to the editor demanding more for your tax money.
4. Talk co operation but don't do anything for your town unless you get paid for it. And by all means refuse to serve unless you are chairman.
5. Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office of being a publicity seeker.
6. Don't do any more than you have to. When others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a better town, howl because the town is run by a clique.
7. Don't back your fire department or your police department. If the firemen work to bring the insurance rates down, tell everybody that this is what they are supposed to do. Don't thank them or the policemen for endangering their lives that you might have a safer town in which to live. Demand special treatment, raise Cain if anybody expects you to obey traffic and parking laws.
8. Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one that gets the most good out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.
9. Don't do anything for the youth of the town. Criticize them as potential delinquents. Keep your feet on them. Encourage them to move away when they grow up.
10. If you have good town leaders, don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude and talk down everything they do.

Rev. J. E. McGrane Transfers To New Parish In City

Rev. J. E. McGrane, former parish priest of Lac la Biche for almost 20 years and, for the past year, parish priest of Calmar and Devon, has just been appointed to the new parish of St. Angela, Edmonton.

During the past year, under the administration of Fr. McGrane, the rectory at Calmar has been enlarged and renovated and at Devon a new church, accommodating 250 persons was opened and solemnly blessed last Nov. 6. The new charge for Fr. McGrane will be a much greater task.

The new parish, located at 134 Ave. and 134 St. in the Calder district so far has no church or rectory and the plans call for the erection of the church, rectory and also a parish hall. At present however, there is a Separate School with 400 children attending, from Grades 1 to 9 and mass is being said in the school auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Onufrow Move To Edmonton

LAC LA BICHE — Mr. and Mrs. John Onufrow, who have lived in Lac la Biche some 22 years and have operated 'John's Shoe Store' for some years, have sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lachowich of Rich Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Onufrow are moving to Edmonton where their daughter Sally and son Ronnie are already attending school. Their elder daughter, Ann, has been employed in the city for some time.

Plans to dispose of their shoe store have not yet been completed. John has been a faithful member of the volunteer fire brigade and his cheerful services will be greatly missed.

Mrs. Onufrow has been a diligent worker in the Greek Catholic Church and that organization will feel the loss of her membership.

Mrs. Mrs. Creighton Entertain Guests

LAC LA BICHE — New Year's guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Creighton were their eldest son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Creighton and five-months-old son Danny. The young couple just recently returned from Toronto, where they had spent two months at Missionary Candidate school prior to their being accepted as missionaries to Ethiopia, Africa, under the Sudan Interior Mission.

Following several weeks at Linguistic School in Toronto in June, Gordon and Norma hope to proceed to Africa.

Both graduates of the Peace River Bible Institute, Sexsmith, they have served for the past two years at East Coulee under the Canadian Sunday School Mission.

Add 3 Jets Edmonton Polar Route, Boost Traffic 40%

By Ken Larson

Three six million dollar DC-8 jetliners will be put into service on Canadian Pacific Airlines' "Polar Route" this summer, boosting from two to five the number of weekly flights overseas by the company. Len Smalley, district sales manager in Edmonton, said CPA is working toward a 40 per cent increase in air traffic. This will give CPA an added potential of 420 passengers each way through use of the big pure jet luxury liners.

At present two Britannia prop-jet aircraft carrying 109 passengers—each services the polar route from Vancouver to Amsterdam, with Edmonton's International Airport as a pickup point. The significance of the oil capital's new jetport is again emphasized by the CPA announcement in that it has been made shortly after the official opening of the terminal which was Dec. 3.

At that time, Trans-Canada Airlines said that starting May 3, it would operate 7½ hour DC-8 jet service between Edmonton and London, routing the firm's once-weekly flight through Prestwick, Scotland, bringing the total Edmonton-London time to nine hours. This would be only several hours longer than the present flying time from Edmonton to Toronto.

Canadian Pacific Airlines, said Mr. Smalley, will put two DC-8's into overseas service on May 1. A third jet will be added June 1. Flying time will be 8 hours to Amsterdam and one hour to London. Britannias now take 13 hours.

"This really gives us something of which to be proud," Mr. Smalley beamed. "We will be the only prop-jet airlines in the west offering economy fare and jet service as well as on overseas flights."

The Britannias now depart Edmonton on Fridays and Sundays returning Sundays and Tuesdays. The new schedule will provide for flights departing Edmonton on Tuesdays, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Presently, CPA offers 17-day economy class excursion fares overseas, starting at $481 return, up until the end of March. "Off season" economy class fares, which allow for extended stopovers, are $583 return, until March 31. "On season" economy class return fares are $619. In addition to economy, CPA has first class and deluxe class service on the Britannias.

Locally, CPA schedules two flights daily, using Convairs to Grande Prairie and Fort St. John and changing to DC6B's for the remaining distance to Whitehorse Y.T.

SAYS SUN SUPERINTENDENT:

81? Healthy? You Probably Don't Nibble Between Meals

"I never eat between meals or at night before going to bed," confides Marsh Hodgins, 81-year-old plant superintendent at Sun Publishing Co. Ltd. "I feel this is the secret of good health."

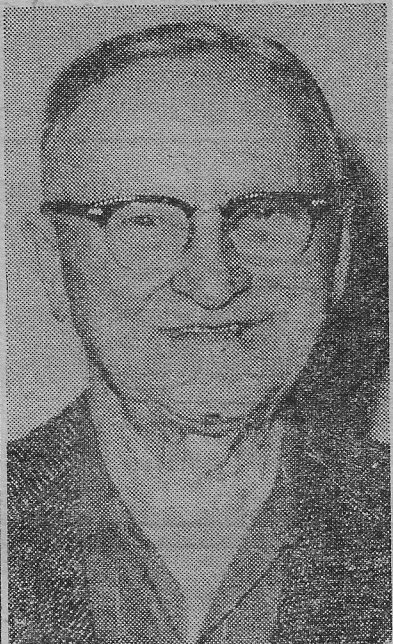

Marsh, who performed his daily setting up exercises as usual at 6 a.m. on Friday, January 6, was merely celebrating his 81st birthday with little change in routine. After a hearty breakfast, he walked spryly into the Sun Publishing plant at 7 a.m., ready to get out the last four of 23 weekly newspapers published there. Added to this is the task of overseeing job-printing such as flyers, stationery and auction bills.

The kind of man who just won't stay retired, Marsh displayed his progressive nature as a printer's devil (apprentice) before the turn of the century. Born in Lucan, Ont., in 1880, he was employed by the Killarney Guide in Killarney, Manitoba, by the time he was 15. His alert mind grasped the principles of type composition and press work and "when the journeyman went on a bender six months later", Marsh got the paper out.

He worked for the Brandon Sun, later joining the Winnipeg Telegram in 1899 where he completed his apprenticeship training. He would stay two hours later and arrive two hours earlier in order to learn the linotype machine, endeavoring to keep pace with changing times.

Marsh worked as a tramp printer on various western U.S. newspapers, working several weeks, then travelling again, seeing the country and learning new techniques. When he arrived in Vancouver, B.C., his two weeks became 23 years. He joined the Vancouver Province, then moved to the Vancouver World, which later amalgamated with the Vancouver Sun.

In 1930 Charles Campbell hired him. He stayed with the Regina Star a year, then came to Edmonton where he served as plant superintendent with the Bulletin.

MARSH HODGINS

Sun Plant Superintendent

No sooner was he retired, than he was restless to get back to work. Five weeks later, he joined the Edmonton Sun.

Marsh has seen printing techniques change in his 65 years in the shops. He thinks mechanical methods have made for better print jobs and higher productivity, but still insists that the human skill is what makes a craftsman. "I believe letterpress is here to stay and I don't believe any photo method will eliminate it completely," he says. "But the competition will bring improvements in both methods."

THE Homemakers

By BERTHA M. McCUTCHEON

The desire to augment a low income has caused many housewives to answer advertisements offering part time work at home.

To answer the numerous inquiries made to the Better Business Bureau of Edmonton, regarding various types of homework promotions, the following information is provided.

Advertisements offering homework and involving various types of propositions and schemes, as well as those requiring the purchase of merchandise, are not always clear with respect to the conditions under which the person will work, and particularly as to the obligation incurred.

They are worded in such manner as to appeal to housewives, "shut-ins", and others interested in part-time work. Such advertisements appear in both classified and display columns of community and daily newspapers, as well as weekly or monthly publications.

These advertisements are usually disguised as "Help Wanted" offers. Others appear under such classifications as "Business Opportunities", "Business Personals", "Money-Making Opportunities", etc. While these offers usually make an appeal such as "Earn money at Home

— $2.00 an hour in your spare time", which obligates the purchaser to "Do Easy Work in Your Home", etc. the advertisement is really intended to sell a service or an article of merchandise.

In some instances respondents to these money-making appeals are asked to send a payment ranging from $2.00 to $10.00 for "instructions" or "information" for a "money-making plan". The advertiser does not usually have any actual employment to offer, but is interested primarily in selling his so-called "instructions".

Usually the so-called "instructions" is a small booklet, often mimeographed, explaining how a mail order business may be set up by addressing post cards or circulars. The post cards or circulars are to be purchased from the company and sent to the home-worker's own mailing list. Such mailing pieces offer for sale these same "instructions" or some gadget or product such as baby shoes. It is to be noted, however, the home-worker must pay for the mailing and materials and the postage, but without the assurance of any return on her investment.

Some "Earn Money at Home" offers are designed to sell such commodities as knitting machines costing up to $400. To earn such money, respondents to these offers are required to sign a contract which obligates the purchaser to buy a knitting machine but which contract does not obligate the seller in any manner to provide work to be done at home or to buy back or pay for finished product. Other "Earn Money at Home" advertisements offer "assembly work" and request payment for instructions and assembly kit. These advertisers sell the materials and kits to make such articles as belts, ties, aprons, baby shoes, etc. The worker is to assemble such articles and then attempt to sell the completed product wherever possible. Generally, the sellers of the instructions, kit, and materials do not offer or guarantee to buy back the finished products.

Since some advertisements contain such appeals as "Earn Money at Home Addressing Envelopes", the inquirer should be advised that business firms seldom if ever hire persons to address envelopes or perform office work at their homes.

No firm advertising in this manner which has come to the bureau's attention has been found to offer employment or to guarantee a market at a fixed price for the finished product.

GREEN ACRES

By Fred Strashok, District Agriculturist

It has been brought to our attention that a number of cattle herds in the district are infested with a livestock pest called lice. Lice in cattle are considered second to warbles in causing economic losses to the owners of cattle in Alberta. Great strides have been made in controlling this pest among ranch herds, etc. In organized municipalities, where agricultural service boards are active, municipal spray machines have been purchased to do the spraying of cattle for warbles and lice at a nominal charge to the cattle owner.

In small herds it has been found that washing the animals thoroughly with a hard-bristle scrub brush is a good method. Two treatments are necessary spaced about 12 to 16 days apart. The animal should be thoroughly treated, paying particular attention to hard-to-get-at places such as flank, brisket, underline, udder, etc. Particular attention should be given to those animals known to be "spreaders" for the rest of the herd.

Louse control is usually neglected until populations become abundant in winter. Cold weather makes wet treatment impossible so one must resort to dusting. Dusts should be thoroughly brushed in to cover the entire animal. Two treatments, spaced 12 to 16 days apart, are required with additional treatments as necessary. Where warm shelters are available, scrub washes at two intervals will give more effective control than dusts.

When using the different chemicals available as dusts and washes do read and heed the instructions and precautions as listed on the labels. Many dusts are available for use but 1% rotenone powder and 10% Methoxychlor are the safest to use on cows that are milking or which are suckling young calves.

The cost of various chemicals varies considerably and it is well worth checking before deciding which one to use.

To get the best control and a more economical return from animals infested with lice, do the dusting or washing as soon as lice are noticed.

PIG MANAGEMENT IN COLD WEATHER

Mr. A. J. Charnetski, Alberta's Livestock Supervisor, states that the modern belief that insulated floors in piggeries take the place of good straw bedding, is an illusion. Experience has proved that straw bedding is a necessity for both new born and weanling pigs up to four months of age and desirable for pigs of any age.

Hogs short of bedding frequently develop respiratory and crippling diseases which cause considerable expense and loss to the producer. Also, under cold, clammy conditions, slow gains are common which means very little profit.

Cold damp conditions in the piggery can be corrected by installing proper ventilation. Although heat is the only thing that will eliminate excess moisture, the barn walls and ceilings should be properly insulated with vapour barriers to reduce the accumulation of frost and moisture. Mr. Charnetski recommends that farrowing and weanling pig accommodation be kept at a temperature of about 70°F.

Aurla Price Bride Of Arthur Scott In Ceremony At St. Andrew's Church

St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Lac la Biche, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Miss Aurla Faye Price became the bride of Mr. Arthur Allen Scott.

Rev. W. A. Swinton officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Price of Briarville and the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott of Lac la Biche.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of net over satin. The lace bodice featured a scalloped neckline and hip-point sleeves. The chapel veil was held in place by a dainty crown of pearls and grilions. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Bella McDonald and Miss Linda Price, sister of the bride, were her attendants. Miss McDonald, maid-of-honor, chose a street-length dress of white brocade satin with wide blue sash. She wore a white bandeau in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of blue flowers. The bridesmaid wore a frock of pink lace over satin with pink accessories. Her bandeau was also pink, matching her bouquet.

Attending the groom were Mr. David Gatzke and Mr. Dave Brouger of Lac la Biche.

Miss Anita Senetza was organist. The bride's mother was dressed in a blue silk dress with white accessories and Mrs. Scott, mother of the groom, wore a figured silk in blue. Their accessories and cor-sages were in white.

Following the marriage service, the bridal party motored to Boyle for wedding pictures.

Later a reception for 80 relatives and close friends was held at the home of the groom's parents. Rev. W. Swinton proposed the toast to the bride.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Price, Briarville; brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Price, Peace River; Mr. Ford Scott and daughter Darlene, patients at Aberhart Sanatorium, Edmonton, were able to be home for the happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott will make their home in Lac la Biche.

Shower Compliments Geraldine Leitner

McMURRAY — A miscellaneous shower was held in the club room of the Old Mission for Miss Geraldine Leitner, former school mates, Miss Lorraine Couture, Miss Dorothy Malcolm and Miss Lena Phaneuf were hostesses.

Games and contests were enjoyed before the guest of honor opened her many beautiful gifts. A lunch was served from a decorated table with a bride cake baked by Sister Hamlin as centre decoration.

Miss Leitner will become the bride of Terry Goodwin at a wedding ceremony in St. John's Roman Catholic Church.

New Year's Party McMurray Event

The Waterway's Women's Community Club held its third annual New Year's party in the community hall, which was well attended by members and their guests.

An evening of dancing, followed by a buffet supper and New Year's favors and noise-makers for everyone, concluded an enjoyable evening.

It is funny how people think you are interested in their troubles.

HOUSE OF COMMONS now has three vacancies following resignation of maverick J. C. Van Horne, 39, fiery Conservative MP from New Brunswick. Mr. Van Horne, who endorsed Liberals in New Brunswick election, said resignation was due to pressure of his business affairs and not because of disagreement with Conservative Government.

Chris Jingle Won By Rhonda Tolen

McMURRAY — The draw for Chris Jingle, Santa Claus' newest reindeer, which had been on display in Hill Drugs, was made on Christmas Eve, by Cpl. K. Williams and was won by Rhonda Tolen of Waterways with a ballot entered by her grandmother, Mrs. Peter Tolen.

Estimated total annual oil production in Alberta in 1959 was 139 million barrels.

Young People Hold Program

BEAUVALLON — On the afternoon of Dec. 24 a special Young People's program was presented under the direction of L. Marian of Vermilion, local church youth leader. The theme of the program was "Seeking Christ at Christmas."

"It certainly is proper that there should be a season in the year when people think about the birth of Jesus: a period of thanksgiving and good will," Mr. Marian said. Throughout the program fitting musical numbers in the form of solo, duet, trio, quartet and children's chorus were rendered. Dr. John Melenchuk of St. Paul narrated the story of the three Wise Men from the East who were guided by the bright star to Bethlehem, the birth place of Jesus Christ, the Messiah. "The Magi had been among the first to welcome the Redeemer. Their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh was the first that was laid at His feet," said Dr. Melenchuk. "If we give our hearts to Jesus, we also shall bring our gifts to Him. Our gold and silver, our most precious earthly possessions, our highest mental and spiritual endowments, will be freely devoted to Him who loved us and gave Himself for us," Melenchuk said.

In concluding the program Mr. Marian said, "At this season, then, let us look beyond the tinsel and glitter with which man has invested Christmas to the deep significance of the birth and life of Christ."

In closing, Don Meleshenko of Calgary rendered a beautiful hymn entitled "Nothing Between My Soul and My Savior."

MUNDARE — The New Year baby who will be the recipient of the many gifts offered by the merchants of Mundare is a baby boy, born on Jan. 3 at 5 a.m.

The baby weighed six pounds, twelve ounces and is 20½ inches in height. He has brown hair and dark blue eyes.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zabolotniuk (nee Yasinski) who farm in High Prairie. The baby has two brothers, Augustine, four years and Gerry one and a half years of age.

Dr. N. C. Strichuk was the attending doctor and nurses were Sister Orest and Sister Marina.

The Mundare Drug store has a gift basket for the baby — that will be a surprise for the parents. W. P. Stawniczy had given four cans of carnation milk and Keats drug store have a bottle of Mennen Baby Magic, all gifts for the new born of 1961.

The parents are not left out either for Floyd's Upholstery has a free cushion for them and Alda's Cafe has a pack of cigars for Dad to give out after the arrival of the baby and a carton of cigarettes awaits him at Sereda Farm Equipment. Mother too gets into the act for Eliuk's Cafe has a box of chocolates to nibble on to help pass the time of day while in hospital and when she gets out she can go to Mary's Beauty Salon for a free set and toner.

All these fine gifts and a new year baby too, these are certainly lucky parents and all they need to do is call around at the stores to collect their gifts.

Approximately 3000 books are in the library, divided into three sections: elementary, junior and senior high, and adult section. The elementary section is located in the old high school and the other two sections are in the new building. New shelving has been added for better display of reference books.

Books are available to the public during the hour of 12:30 to 1 p.m. on Fridays. Maximum time allowed for books taken out is two weeks with one week extension. Five cents per day penalty will be charged for overdue books.

The adult section contains a fair selection of books, and an invitation is being extended to the public to make use of these books.

Why is it, that when men or women act like children, they always imitate the worst traits of childhood?

TOO MUCH FOR YOUR CHILD

By Robert P. Odenwald, M.D.

WHAT'S WRONG with doing "too much" for your child? Isn't that what any conscientious parent would do? Perhaps you have had a hard time in your life and had to do without things you wanted badly. Probably you made mistakes which you might have avoided if your parents had guided you each step of your way.

So you want to give your child necessities and comforts which he can't obtain for himself. You want to guide him in order to keep him from seriously hurting himself.

YOUR MAIN JOB as a mother or father, however, is to help him develop habits and attitudes which will make him a normal, happy adult. He must learn to depend upon himself, to take responsibility, to get along without many things he would like to have but can't afford, to be willing to sacrifice his own interests at times for other people.

WHEN A CHILD does not have everything done for him, he learns to take in stride the many disappointments he will face as an adult. He won't feel that the world is falling apart because his employer won't give him the raise he expects. He will shrug his shoulders when the family budget can't fit in a new set of golf clubs because a new washing machine for his wife is more necessary.

You will have to decide for yourself where to draw the line between what is necessary and what is too much for your child.

HERE is a good rule: Let him do everything that he should be able to do at his age. To apply this rule, you need only watch other children or read up on what normal youngsters do for themselves at each stage of their development.

Let your child suffer small failures in order to learn. For instance, he will often fall when he begins to walk. But he learns that he can get up and walk again as though nothing had happened — a lesson that will help him meet the unavoidable disappointments and defeats he will face throughout his life.

DURING WORLD WAR II, Army psychiatrists learned to recognize that danger signals were flying when a young man came to the induction center escorted by his mother. Marriage counselors mark down sharply the prospects for happiness when the prospective bride or bridegroom insists upon living with parents. It's usually proof that the man or woman feels unqualified to handle everyday problems without help. They depend too much upon the older generation to be a successful marriage partner.

THERE ARE MANY THINGS that parents can and should do for their children — but the most important thing they can do is to let them experience life's trials and disappointments and strengthen their character by overcoming them.

"ENJOY YOUR CHILDREN":*Informative Articles On Children Start Next Week

Next week, this newspaper begins a series of articles entitled "Enjoy Your Children" written by Mrs. Anna B. Fox. Mrs. Fox, a teacher with over ten years experience, has found the study of children an absorbing and life long interest, and is constantly searching for improvements and changes in educational and training methods.

In conjunction with her teaching, Mrs. Fox worked for eight years with doctors and psychologists at a government clinic, assessing children's mentality. She has read widely on the subject of children and has attended numerous conventions over the past eight years.

Mrs. Fox has travelled extensively to increase her knowledge of this wide field. She has been to Toronto and Winnipeg observing educational methods, and when in the U.S. she took a course at San Francisco State College on "Handicapped Children".

She was in England a year ago to further broaden her knowledge of techniques and to see the differences in the handling of various problems. She visited technical and infant schools and also a school for spastic children.

Mrs. Fox commented that many techniques used in England, especially for younger children, could be used to advantage here; but she also felt that Canada has a greater variety of methods for training older children.

Mrs. Fox was in Norway during June and July of last summer, again in search of more knowledge on child development. She visited a number of schools while there and remarked that the child's integration in home life seemed closer than that we are achieving in Canada. She also commented on the children's participation in so many sports and found the Norwegian children extremely healthy in body and in mind.

An attractive and youthful grandmother, Mrs. Fox is at present running a kindergarten for pre-school youngsters. She finds it most rewarding and is studying their behaviour pattern and growth taking into consideration their home environment. Two of her small pupils are from England.

To complete an already full timetable, Mrs. Fox attends University of Alberta courses with the intention of completing her third and fourth year Education.

With such a wide knowledge and experience in her field, Mrs. Fox has many insights and much worthwhile advice, which should make her forthcoming articles of value and interest to our readers, and which should justify her theme, "Enjoy Your Children".

Members of the band and invited guests enjoyed an evening of fun and food at a party held in the Library at the town hall Dec. 30. A good time was reported by all who attended. One member complained of sore muscles later, as a result no doubt of some of the stunts engaged in.

Arema Pruden And Ernest Laboucan Seal Wedding Vows With Two Rings

Miss Arema Pruden and Mr. Ernest Laboucan exchanged marriage vows in the United Church, Lac la Biche, Dec. 31.

Rev. S. L. Munro officiated at the double-ring ceremony and Mrs. M. A. Lett presided at the organ.

Miss Pruden is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pruden of Lac la Biche and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Laboucan of Owl River.

Mr. Harry Pruden gave his sister in marriage.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon in cocktail length, featuring a three-tier skirt, straight, high neckline and lily-point sleeves. The wide belt was of seed pearls. The chapel-length veil of chiffon was also fashioned of three tiers and the high crown of seed pearls matched the belt of the dress. Her only jewelry was a strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom.

Her cascade bouquet was of pink roses and fern.

Miss Emily Pruden was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Linda Kamke, niece of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of aqua chiffon in cocktail length. Miss Pruden's accessories were in white to match her colonial bouquet and Miss Kamke chose pink accessories and carried a pink bouquet.

Supporting the groom were Mr. Elgie Schirrmacher, Edmonton, and Mr. Steve Ewanchuk, Lac la Biche.

Some 200 guests attended the reception at the home of the groom's sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kamke, Owl River.

OVER MY GATEPOST

(People and Politics in and around the Capitol)

By ANTHONY J. WRIGHT

The greatest Tory Canada ever had: In a sense C. D. Howe was the greatest Tory Canada ever had—and I mean that as a tribute. He was the boldest free enterpriser and a man with a great deal more vision than some who pride themselves thereon. But he was NOT an adroit politician or a smooth man of Parliament. In fact he may well have lost the Liberals the 1957 election by poking a farmer in the tummy, on the prairies, and remarking "You look pretty well fed."

But what's an election? The Liberals would have lost sooner or later anyway. And certain it is that with jobs the way they are just now if the Liberals had been at the end of a long stretch of office this year, they would have been blamed for unemployment and pitched out on their necks. As it is the Conservatives are getting the blame and may get the pitching.

Anthony Wright

But back to Howe. I first met him when I was reporting for a news agency at Prestwick Airport, Scotland. C. D. was "minister of everything" at the time in the Canadian government and had dropped in on his way back home after signing an agreement involving TCA and Ireland.

I grumbled to him that I was having trouble with red-tape-delay over my application to emigrate to Canada. He looked up at me with those beady eyes set in a leathery face. "Have you got $50 young man?" he asked. I said I had a bit more than that. "Then come on out to Canada, you sit down and write to Norman Robertson (then High Commissioner in London) and tell him I told you to." I did so. My papers came back within 36 hours. He was then minister of immigration.

Howe believed that immigration's job was to get people in, not to deport them. He once told his deputy to look for ways in which a certain European immigrant might remain in Canada rather than to keep on quoting sections of the Immigration Act or regulations under which Ottawa's duty was to kick the chap out. The deputy found a way for the man to stay, without breaking the rules.

Big budget news hardly noticed: The big news in the "baby budget" of December 20 was the item which said Ottawa would have another look at the part of the Customs Act which allows goods "of a class or kind not made in Canada" to come in at low tariff. This rule was made to help Canadians, many years ago, import machinery and other goods they could not get here and needed to build the country.

But the Canadian customs has been too lenient in this instance. It has been letting massive machinery e.g. paper-making machines, in at 7½ percent duty merely because such machines had a small feature not built into the Canadian-made machines. The intent of Parliament when it made the exception for "goods of a class or kind not made in Canada" was plain. If the goods were being made or could be made here higher duty should be paid. But the law, so far, has been applied in such a way as to favor the foreign goods. Now this will be changed.

For example the Germans have been sending double-barrelled shotguns with one barrel placed on top of the other. Because Canadian-made double-barrelled shotguns have the barrels alongside each other the customs people have been ruling the German goods as "of a class or kind not made in Canada." This will now change.

The tightening up will affect up to 75 items and may make a $300 million a year difference to our imports from the United States. More important, applying the law firmly and rigidly will mean protection for many Canadian manufacturers without Canada's offending under the GATT rules. It was a wise move by Fleming.

Hazen with a crew cut? Television may do much to win votes at future elections. Some were here, mindful of the Kennedy success, suggested that if Hazen Argue gets a crewcut he might even be our next prime minister. Incidentally there are those who claim that Doug Fisher beat Howe by television. Others note that Cyrus Eaton, who had a running feud with C.D., supported Fisher with funds.

It's all right to think well of yourself, especially if you deserve it, but you needn't tell everybody about it.

Liquor Board Changes Hours

The vice-chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board has announced that liquor stores in Edmonton and Calgary will open at 10:30 in the morning and will close at 11:30 p.m. instead of midnight, effective Jan. 3. C. G. Macgregor said the change is being made because not too many come to the stores between 11:30 and midnight; it will be more convenient for the staff to get home and the new closing time will eliminate some travel to the stores from beverage rooms and licensed lounges which close at 11:30.

Mr. Macgregor said the new hours will also apply in Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Red Deer.
